WOW: Word Of the Week

Sync
May 20, 2026

God is constantly at work in our world. Our challenge each day is to find out where God is at work (he has been working all night as we slept) and accept his invitation to join him in his work.

Orchestrate. God is orchestrating the events of our world. I like that because of the meaning of orchestra. An AI overview says that the verb orchestrate means "to carefully plan, organize, or coordinate a complex situation, event, or campaign—often involving multiple moving parts or people—to achieve a specific, desired result."

God is in control. God is controling the events of this world for his purpose and his glory.

Synchronize. God constantly synchronizes our world to make possible the fulfillment of his special purpose for you. Your life fills with opportunities because God synchronizes what happens in your life.

Our WOW is sync. What God does, what we are called upon to do spiritually. Connections. A listening heart.

Syncing your life with God means aligning your daily life rhythm, thoughts, and actions with God's purpose. Shift focus from your control to his control. Five concepts. Memorable.

Start. How do you start your day? Prayer and reflection, invite God to guide your schedule and decisions before you get swept up in daily distractions. If you are just beginning to sync with God, this point is a reminder to begin. Start. Habits. Daily. Start.

Space. Seek space in your crowded schedule. Give space for the unexpected. Open eyes, open doors. Space for communication with God, quick silent prayers. Sense of constant connection, pray unceasingly.

Scripture. Read, meditate, reflect. God's character, promises, challenges.

Spiritual support system. Recognize the need for other Christians to encourage and serve others.

Surrender. Repetition of sixth point in the recent discipleship series. Let go and let God. Worry. Stress. Why? Mostly our need to control. Trust.

Life of integrity. Fulfilling God's purpose for you. Participating in God's eternal purpose on this world. Syncing with God gives direction, points toward the goal.
