

Many want God to speak to them like a stoplight -- with either a red light or a green light, to know whether to continue or stop when faced with decisions in life.

God does not speak to us in this way. A person who lives like this is using God as life insurance, thinking of God only when difficulties and decisions come in life, hoping to stay in God's good graces, but mostly ignoring God in daily life.

God give directions for our lives when we establish an intimate relationship with him through Jesus. Life is not "waiting for the next green light" to act. Life is lived in relationship. Our desire is not merely to reach some celestial goal, but to know him more and more.

Dios no es un semáforo

Muchos quieren que Dios les hable como un semáforo marca luz verde o roja, para seguir o detenerse en cuanto a las decisiones de su vida.

Pero Dios no habla de esta manera. Si lo hiciera, usaríamos a Dios como un seguro de vida, donde solo pensamos en El cuando lo necesitamos.

En cambio, Dios da sus direcciones a nuestras vidas cuando establecemos una relación íntima con El, para que el destino no sea nunca nuestro deseo sino conocerlo más a Él.
